3 Cities Attempt to Claim Slopes of Bruno Mountain

Three cities—Daly City, South San Francisco and Brisbane—have conflicting designs on San Bruno Mountain.

Officials of Brisbane and South San Francisco told the County Local Agency Formation Commission last week that the southern and eastern slopes of the vast unincorporated property should eventually become a part of their cities. They said they were willing to leave the northern slope of the mountain to Daly City.

But Ed Lawson, city planner for Daly City, declared that Daly City wants the entire mountain.

The commission (LAFC) started yesterday exploring the possibility of a program in which urban expansion would be pre-planned on a county-wide basis. "Spheres of influence" would be outlined to guide city expansion and the cities would be able to "pre-zone" the areas that are to eventually to be annexed.

After hearing various city officials lay claim to the same pieces of ground, Max Rolih, acting executive officer for LAFC, said it would take several years to work out the proposed program.

Patrick Ahern, vice mayor of South San Francisco and a member of LAFC, commented after hearing the claims on San Bruno Mountain:

"It looks like they're dividing the will before the rich uncle died."

Another area of possible conflict was expressed by City Manager Karl Baldwin of Pacifica and Robert Netherby of the Half Mooon Bay Planning Commission. Both submitted maps showing Green Valley, which is just north of Montara, as part of their cities.

Portola Valley, Menlo Park and Woodside presented conflicting claims to territory on their borders. Both Portola Valley and Menlo Park want to take the residential community of Ladera and Stanford University's Jasper Ridge biological preserve. An Woodside wants some land west of the future Junipero Serra Freeway and north of Sand Hill Road that is included in Portola Valley's expansion plan.

After Lawson had told of Daly City's designs on the entirety of San Bruno Mountain, City Planner Dan Pass of South San Francisco told the commission:

"I hope we can share this magnificent mountain with our neighbor. We have never had any designs on the northern slope, but it's the southern slope or fight.

Chamberites Set Aside 'Citizen Of Year' Plans

Directors of the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce have reined to a halt this year's plans to select and honor a "Citizen of the Year."

The decision came after Thursday's general membership meeting at Val's Restaurant, Daly City, in the face of only limited response to the proposed program.

Jack Kendree, chairman of the chamber's committee formulating plans for the event, said the group would continue to receive "Citizen of the Year" nominations.

The "Citizen," Kendree pointed out, will be honored at a special dinner next year.

Featured at the chamber's noon meeting was a summary of North San Mateo County Sanitation District functions and activities in relation to sewage disposal and water pollution control in the Daly City region.

The guest speaker, introduced by Daly City Councilman Bud Lycett, who doubles as chairman of the sanitation district's board of directors, was District Engineer-Manager Robert V. Bernicchi.

Bernicchi cited the importance of water pollution control, as the north county's population has grown and development increased.

Water, which carries sewrage, is the district's primary problem.

Bernicchi pointed out the attempts to avert pollution "of our environment." As a result, he emphasized, sanitation is "big business."

The north county district has been able to dispose of the sewage without creation of either a health hazard of a public nuisance, the engineer-manager said.

But, it has been only in recent history that water pollution as necessity has been recognized.

Bernicchi attempted to reject the image of the sewage disposal plant worker, who has placed there "in exile" as he neared retirement.

The disposal plant worker of today, he said, must possess backgrounds in engineering and chemistry, to be able to handle lab chores.

"He is a well-trained, technically-wise individual," Bernicchi emphasized.

He showed slides of what he described as a model, efficiently-run disposal plant surrounded by a school, fire department and a park in the Westlake region.

Chambers To Convene At San Bruno

Representatives from all San Mateo County chambers of commerce will meet in San Bruno, Thursday morning, to "discuss matters of mutual interst," San Bruno Chamber Manager Dick King said.

Among the topics to be discussed at the meeting is the proposed Route 186 connecting road betweeen Bayshore Freeway and Pacifica, King said.

This will be the third such meeting of area chamber representatives this year, and will be held at Uncle John's Pancake House, beginning at 8 a.m.

Auto Death Plunge

Father Praises The Classmates Of D.C. Youth

By FRANK LaPIERRE

A saddened Daly City father said today his son's death might have gone undiscovered "for who knows how long" if school friends hadn't joined in a systematic weekend search for him.

The crushed body of 17-year-old Bruce Taylor was found beside the twisted wreckage of the family car 600 feet below Devil's Slide yesterday by seven of the youth's friends.

Bruce was first reported missing early Friday morning by his mother when he failed to return home after attending driver's retraining classes at the Hillcrest School in Belmont.

The boy had been ordered to complete four Thursday night classes by a traffic court judge after making an improper left hand turn at a San Francisco intersection.

"I really want to tell these friends of Bruce how much his mother and I appreciate the time they spent looking for him," Clyde Taylor said. "They gave up their weekends . . . and some took time off from work to search for Bruce."

In groups, the youths scoured the countryside—covering virtually every inch of route Bruce could have possibly taken in returning home from the Hillcrest School.

Tracks leaving the road above the ocean beach led to the wreckage below.

One member of the fire department rescue team said the car plunged over the "steepest section of Devil's Slide."

Loose rocks rained down on rescuemen as they attempted to recover the boy's body using a power winch and cable.

Bruce was a senior at Westmoor High School in Daly City.

Funeral services are scheduled for 3 p.m. tomorrow at Duggan's Serra Chapel, with interment following at Woodlawn Cemetery.

In addition to his parents, Bruce is survived by a brother, Scott, and both grandfathers, Walter Towne and Clyde Taylor

Saves Children In S.S.F. Fire

An 84-year-old South San Franciscan who led three small children from a burning home in that city last week was commended by the city council Monday.

The council said Albert Roggensack "with disregard for his own personal safety," entered the burning premises at 662 Baden Avenue.

Roggensack modestly denied he is a hero.

"I only did what anyone else would have done under the same circumstances," he said.

The fire swept through the wood frame home of Mrs. Rosemary Slayton, burning her 8-month-old baby over some 90 per cent of its body.

Investigators said the Slayton's 4-year-old boy touched off

Jeff Paper Boundary Proposal

A "paper boundary" survey looms for Jefferson Elementary School District which is trying to establish boundary lines for both present and projected educational needs.

Exact boundaries on some sides have never been established.

Ted Wright of Dan Coleman Associates, San Francisco engineers and planners, appeared at the trustees' meeting Monday night to outline such a project.

He said, "We feel that a 'paper boundary' layout costing from $300 to $500 will set the approximate boundaries, especially in the undeveloped areas, rather than needing at the present time an actual survey of physical boundaries at a cost of perhaps $5000 or more."

Such a boundary plan would

'No Gumshoeing,' Warns Jefferson Trustee Galiano

Row Over Letter Is Expanding

Galiano Sought Conflict Ruling

By WIN JOSSELYN

Verbal lightning flashed inside the Jefferson Elementary School District trustees meeting Monday night while real lightning flashed outside as well.

Trustee Peter T. Galiano threatened Chairman George G. Perry and other trustees with an injunction "if there was any gumshoeing into my life."

Such an investigation, Galiano declared, should be done professionally by the district attorney's office.

The storm broke when a letter to the trustees from Keith C. Sorenson, county district attorney, "disassociated" that office from rendering an opinion on whether Galiano, an attorney, had created a 'conflict of interest" by having as a client the California Teachers' Assn.

It all started August 15, when Galiano told trustees of his relationship with the teachers' group. The letter was made a matter of record at Galiano's

Ron Ehrmantraut, 434 Hillway, San Carlos, won first prize of $50 in the Post's Football Contest by naming all 15 winners correctly and giving the nearest estimate of the net yards made by the Oakland Raiders in their game against Kansas City last Sunday.

Other contestants who picked 15 correctly were Truett Welch and Richard Whitsel of Belmont, Kurt Barnes of San Bruno, and Bob Cefalu of San Francisco.

For the second week, a cash prize of $50 is offered, plus a $50 bonus for being a home-delivery subscriber to The Times. Entry deadline is Thursday night.

Ehrmantraut is a single gardener who was born in Denver 33 years ago. He has lived in San Mateo County for almost 20 years and in San Carlos for the last 15 years. He has been participating in The Times-Post Football Contest for the last four years, but his entry last week was his first winner. In addition to football, he is an avid Giants' baseball fan.

Financing Bruno Mall Concern

A group of about 25 San Mateo Avenue merchants gave their tentative approval to San Bruno's proposed shopping mall project last Tuesday night at a panel discussion in the city council chamber.

The businessmen were almost unanimously enthusiastic about the plan, which could cost them as much as $500 per front foot according to panelist Larry Wise, a representative of a counsulting firm which conducted a survey on the project.

Some opposition was heard from homeowners who live within the project area, however.

Tom O'Toole, a resident of Green Avenue, told the panel, "If progress means moving old people out of their homes, then I am against progress. I can understand why you merchants want it, but there is nothing in it for the homeowner."

Wise said the project would be paid for by those who would benefit from it, and would increase the value of all property in the area.

"I don't want the value of my property increased," O'Toole said. "My taxes are too high now."

About 10 homes would be removed under the plan.

Chamber of Commerce Mgr. Dick King, moderator for the panel, called upon businessmen in the audience for their opinions during the discussion, and the only doubt expressed was over financing for the project.

Wise said no specific plans for financing have been arrived at, but there are several possibilities, including federal aid.

Mayor Karney Barberian, who also served on the panel, told the group the city has had a number of surveys conducted in the past, and all indicate "we are not getting the business we should."

Under the proposed plan, traffic would be channeled around the mall area on streets parallel to San Mateo Avenue.

After the meeting, Wise said interest in the project was "very encouraging," and sufficient to warrant proceeding with development.

He said a financial consultant will be employed to determine the best methods of raising necessary firms, and a report should be completed within a month.

Meanwhile, chamber manager Dick King said smaller meetings of merchants will be held during the next few weeks to work out details of the project.

Mrs. Reagan To Be Feted At 'Coffees'

Mrs. Ronald Reagan, wife of the Republican candidate for governor, will be honored at a county-wide series of "Coffees For Nancy," beginning with a reception at Lake Merced Golf and Country Clubhouse at 10:30 a.m. on Friday.

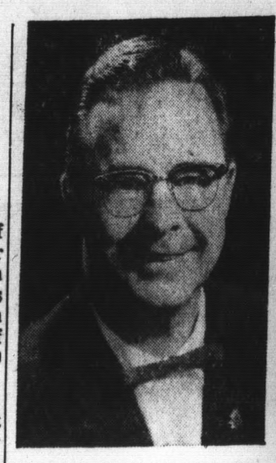
Mrs. Thelma Doelger, Mrs. Albert Drain and Mrs. Robert Hunter will be hostesses for which 300 invitations have been issued. Mrs. Merritt R. Hosmer of San Carlos, San Mateo County co-chairman of the Reagan Committee, will accompany Nancy and the candidates' wives.

Robert Miller, North County candidate for the State Assembly, and his wife, are to be special guests.

MRS. RONALD REAGAN

Following the morning coffee hour at the club, Mrs. Reagan will be presented at a luncheon for Republican volunteer presidents, club officers and board members, in the Sky Room of Villa Chartier. Mrs. Henry Felt, president of Pro America, is arranging this event.

In the afternoon Mrs. Reagan will attend two receptions, one at the Hillsborough home of Mrs. James Halley, wife of the Republican State Central Committee vice chairman, and the other at the home of Mrs. Edwin H. Randle in Atherton. Mrs. Britschgi will assist at the Halley tea and Mrs. Richard J. Dolwig will do honors at the Randle tea.



Rev. Rafe C. Martin, district governor, Lions' Club's District 4-C4, will be the guest of the Daly City-Colma Lions' Club, today at noon, at Toto's Pizzeria, 1917 Junipero Serra Boulevard, Daly City.

insistence and the board referred it to the district attorney for advice and comment.

The district attorney disassociated his office from the matter "because I have received repeated telephone calls from the chairman of your board informing me of the earnest desire of the members of your board to have the matter referred to the attorney general," Sorenson stated.

"I have determined," he said, "to make no referral to the office of the attorney general of the legal question you have presented. In view of the fact, however, that your board is apparently of the conviction that an opinion from this office would not be acceptable, I hereby disassociate this office from the matter at hand, and I advise your district to employ private counsel in my stead."

Perry then recognized Robert Hunter, 127 Palisades Drive, in the audience.

Hunter asked if the board "is board do now that the district attorney has declined to render an opinion?"

Perry replied, "The board will evaluate its action. We should undertake to add information in this matter."

Hunter asked if the board "isa to investigate its own members?"

Perry replied, "You might put it that way."

Galiano then threatened his injunction against Perry.

Galiano went on, "I asked that the district attorney give an opinion on any conflict of interest. The district attorney is under the impression that we don't want a legal opinion. He is our counsel and this is his function. I move that the matter be referred to the district attorney."

His motion died for lack of a second.

Galiano said, "The district attorney says only one letter was received, but I received copies of three letters."

Perry declared that only one letter had been sent to the district attorney, and said to Galiano, "I have been extremely patient in this matter."

Galiano retorted that he, too, had been extremely patient, and added, "I don't know what you are afraid of. I have nothing to fear. Sorenson is not my attorney, but is the board's attorney."

Trustee Joseph Lewkowitz, a board member for 15 years, advised Galiano "to make a request to the chair and he will act on it."

Galiano said, "The district attorney's letter said he did not want to give an opinion. Is there some semantic blockade between the board and the district attorney?"

He added that he had spoken to the district attorney's office since the investigation started, "but they stopped it as a result of your repeated telephone calls. I advise you the district attorney could not give an opinion because the chairman asked him not to."

Perry remarked," We can sit here hour on hour in this discussion. You are entitled to your opinion and can draw your own conclusion. We submitted the question to the distrcit attorney and he chose to return the matter to us."

"Things of this nature should be discussed in our own house. I hope we can have the co-operation of the board, and if we can't get the information here, I want to have a committee of our own."

Galiano observed, "Perhaps there have been secret meetings I don't know about. The district attorney's office told me on the telephone they were ready to give an opinion and please ask them for it. You will get yourselves into serious trouble, you and whoever co-operates with you. Let's assume you made an investigation. You can't expel me from the board.

"It must be done by the district attorney. I suggest you not make any inquiries into my private life. I suggest it be done by professionals."

Galiano asked whether because his formal motion had died for lack of a second, the chairman would ask the district attorney for an opinion after all?

Perry said that he would.

Hunter then asked Perry if there had been any deliberations "that were made not in this building?"

Perry answered, "To my knowledge, no."

Hunter persisted, "Did you make any phone calls to the district attorney as stated?"

Answered Perry, "The way you ask it, no."

Perry directed District Supt. Frank L. Greenwood to obtain from the district attorney an opinion on the chairman's rights; for example, may he appoint members of the board to determine the relationship existing between Galiano and the California Teachers' Association, Bay Section.

Greenwood asked the board to formally move to this effect, but Trustee Joseph Lewkowitz thought it unnecessary.

Perry said he wanted the board to have as much information as possible to determine what course of action it should take next.

be based on an enlarged U.S. geodetic survey map, other existing maps, aerial photos, legal land descriptions, city zoning laws and whatever else was available.

The survey would look at undeveloped areas for future school sites.

"By projecting population trends," said Wright, "we could come close to locating new sites, and then could contact the owners, determine soil types, earthquake hazards and so on."

When school sites were actually decided on, exact surveys would be called for "to make sure the building was all inside your district."

Board Chairman George G. Perry questioned if adjoining school districts might share in boundary outline costs. Trustee Peter T. Galiano thought they would, and Dist. Supt. Frank L. Greenwood said such districts would be contacted.

Don Faulk of the office of Angus McSweeney, Inc., district architects, favored going ahead with the "paper boundary" to establish what is presently needed. When a master plan is determined in the future this survey would offer valuable information.

Other business at the Monday session included setting a salary of $26 a day for substitute teachers. The figure at JESD has been $20. The board has queried surrounding school districts for their salary rates to place JESD in a favorable competitive position for its part-time teachers.

The usual agreement with San Francisco State College was made in taking student teachers for training. The district is reimbursed "at the rate of $5 per unit" for taking aspiring student teachers, Last year 70 were accepted, and Supt. Greenwood remarked that this also constituted an excellent recruiting program for JESD.

Dr. Vinton Stratton, assistant superintendent for education, reported hiring four more regular teachers, Mrs. Helen Bredderman, who last taught in Monterey; Mrs. Georgette Campbell, El Paso; Miss Kathryn Cytanovich, Fresno; and Mrs. Maxine Poon, Fremont.

The board set Monday, September 26 at 8 p.m., for a special meeting to outline a format of board policy.

Roggensack was alerted to the fire by the screams of another neighbor, Trixie LaFrance, and rushed into the home where he found the children standing in the smoke-filled front room.

Park Site Acquisition Is 'Urgent'

"I just have the feeling that time is running out on that mountain."

Paul Hupf, Daly City's City Attorney and a member of the San Mateo County Parks and Recreation Commission, was referring, of course, to San Bruno Mountain and the situation which, according to him, is growing more and more urgent if the county is to purchase a large parcel of the mountain top for use as a park.

Speaking to the commission at yesterday's scheduled meeter at Coyote Point, Hupf emphasized that owners of land on the mountain, the Crocker Company, might be about to begin serious planning for use of that land.

"There is a desperate urgency for us (the county) to purchase land on the mountain," Hupf said. "The mountain is unique. It is a freestanding mountain (one that simply looms out of surrounding relatively flat land)."

The matter of the need to "get moving on the matter, which has been in the hands of the County Regional Planning Committee for months, came up when the commission was asked to examine the possibility of purchasing 410 acres of land in Pacifica for use as a park site.

Hupf felt that buying anything now except land on San Bruno Mountain would be cutting into the county's ability to purchase what it wants when the final mountain site decision is eventually made. "I want more information on this acquisition (the Pacifica proposal) before I can make a decision," added Hupf. "I want to know what relation this purchase will have on our future efforts on the mountain."

The Pacifica matter was summarily tabled.

No Retrial For Pacifica's Gust

District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson said Friday that Vice Mayor Nick Gust of Pacifica will not be re-tried on a charge of drunkenness.

"It would serve no good purpose," he explained.

Gust, 45, a Pacifica restaurateur, was acquitted by a Municipal Court jury Monday of a charge of distrubing the peace. The same jury failed to agree on the drunk charge but stood 10 to 2 for acquittal when Judge Cecil Edgar declared a mistrial.

Sorenson said a motion to dismiss the drunk charge will be made at a date to be determined.

The charge grew out of an incident aboard a jet airliner from Las Vegas in which Gust was alleged to have hit a woman passanger and threatened her husband. Gust's lawyer, Thomas L. Bocci, claimed that it was all a case of mistaken identity.

Serra Shells Westmoor

By JOHN HORGAN
Post Sports Writer

The Serra High School football arsenal, long a punchless array of listless weapons which sputtered and misfired for three long, loss-filled seasons, has finally found a trio of destructive devices.

In quarterback Bruce Wood, halfback Jim Garban and a "Terrible Trio" of mastadon-like defensive linemen who spell doomsday for enemy rushing efforts the Padres have strengths that have not existed since 1962, their last winning season.

Buoyed by a solid season-opening 20-6 win over Westmoor of Daly City here Saturday, the Padres down to a man, feel that they have a good shot at shooting down strong Woodside whom they duel Friday night in Redwood City.

"Whether we can beat Woodside Friday depends on our stopping that kid Bunce (Quarterback Don Bunce of the Wildcats)," predicted Pad Coach Jesse Freitas in the Serra locker room Saturday.

"Bunce is really quick. We will have to keep the pressure on him all night," continued the Serra leader. "What's more, Woodside will be a much faster team than the one we played today."

But Saturday Serra put together one of its best games in three years in containing the Rams of the North Peninsula League.

In Wood, who passed for 145 yards on 12 of 24, Garban, who ran for three touchdowns and rushed for 113 yards in 23 carries, and that tremendous line group (Tackles Russ Lake and Tino Slazano and newcomer Lou Baross at middle guard), Serra showed enough punch to make them respectable in the suddenly-turned-topsy- turvy Catholic Athletic League.

That line unit deserves special mention. Lake at 225 pounds, Salzano at 235 and Baross at 270 harassed the Rams rushers so unmercifully all afternoon that they could net only 38 yards rushing and allowde them no rushing first downs in the second half.

"Baross just came out for football this week," said Freitas and he beamed as he spoke about the massive Redwood City product. "He really played well. He stayed in the middle and bashed people around.—In fact all three of those guys played well—I'm really pleased with them."

Freitas also had special praise for Garban, who also sparkled on defense: "I've always said that Garban is our best football player. He showed it today."

The Pads got out in front at 8:32 of the first period on a three-yard plunge by Garban and stayed ahead through the rest of the tilt.

Westmoor, which had difficulties all day in ball-handling and sustaining drives, simply could not get untracked in the face of the rugged Padre rush.

Ram Quarterback Grady Proctor hit End John Sirianni with a fine 77-yard scoring pass early in the fourth frame and it represented nearly half the club's total yardage and the only score.

Indicative of the Padres' defensive mastery over the opponents was that only 13 of the Rams' offensive plays netted them over two yards per play. Further, Serra ran off 65 offensive plays to only 35 for Westmoor.

Harris Turns Tiger . . .

WALT HARRIS of South San Francisco, a former College of San Mateo gridder, will start at defensive halfback tonight for former CSM Coach Doug Scovil, when the University of Pacific Tigers host L. A. State at Stockton. Harris is one of the most outstanding of Scovil's 31 JC transfers on the Tiger squad.

County Players In College Ball

Collegiate football teams from Los Angeles to Pittsburgh and Seattle to Santa Barbara will enjoy the talents of no less than 32 San Mateo County players this season.

Among five county youngsters competing for Pacific-8 Conference teams this season is Jim Kollmann of Daly City, an Oregon tackle.

The team with the biggest representation of San Mateo County football talent, however, is Weber State at Ogden, Utah, where a total of eight former College of San Mateo gridders grace the Wildcat roster.

The recruiting success in this area enjoyed by Coach Sark Arslanian, as a matter of fact, is not likely to earn the Weber State mentor any bouquets from the CSM football staff.

Arslanian's tenacious inducements on behalf of the Ogden school has cost CSM some players before the end of their sophomore seasons, and hence with another year of eligibility left for the JC team.

Included in the ex-CSM contingent at Weber State are two defensive linemen from San Bruno, Walter Wenger and John Knight.

Mark Mallinger of Daly City has ranged farthest afield of any local product, enrolling at Pittsburgh where he is battling for end duties. Ron Labrum of South San Francisco is playing end for Utah State.

Westmoor's Dennis James and Rich Laherty are helping USF's rebuilding program as guards. At the University of Pacific, a former CSM gridder is playing for a former CSM coach. Walt Harris of South San Francisco hopes to help Coach Doug Scovil get UOP's program started toward victory again in a defensive halfback role.

Thompson's Tornadoes Lead in Adult Softball

Thompson's Tornadoes jumped into an early lead in the Marchbanks Park Division of the Late Summer Adult Softball League sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, by defeating their first three opponents.

The Tornadoes squeaked by San Rafael Glass and Paint, 7-5, in their first contest which featured the heavy hitting of Frank Strazzulo with two homeruns and Dick Hanlon with one homerun and three RBI's.

The Tornadoes bombed the Streakers, 17-5, in their second outing behind the four-hit performances of Jim Wyatt and George Colombono. Lou DeSalvatore and Fred Belluomi added homeruns to the winning cause.

In their final game last week the Tornadoes blasted the Pacifica LDS, 29-10, behind the five for five hitting of Lou DeSalvatore, Rich Brewer, and Carl Steigerword.

The Rebels made an impressive debut by defeating San Rafael Glass and Paint, 11-4, as Vince Cullen rapped three homeruns for the winners.

D.C. Plans Horseshoe Tournament

The Daly City Recreation Department is now taking signups for an Adult "Singles" horseshoe tournament to be held at Westlake Park on September 24.

Persons interested in competing in this tournament should contact the recreation department, or Joe Valvazar immediately.

Two Way Tie In Adult Softball

The Westlake Park Division of the Daly City Recreation Department Late Summer Adult Softball League is knotted up with a two-way tie for first place as the Jug Shop and the Starlite Hofbrau have both taken two wins in league play.

The Hofbrau rambled past the Daly City Palyboys, 10-3, as John Morris and Ray Ming paced the winners attack with four hits apiece. Tom Ming was a defensive standout for the winners while Bob Barry led the losers with two hits.

The Hofbrau rolled past the Pacifica Auto Parts Giants, 14-2, for their second victory as Bruno Mezzetta sparked the Hofbrau attack with 2 homeruns. Dan Emmett notched a round tripper for the winners while teammates Pat Canavan and Ed Booth each collected four hits.

The Jug Shop displayed good hitting and defense in both of their contests as they defeated Westlake Lounge, 9-5, and Pacifica Auto Parts Giants, 10-5. The second game featured a four-run fourth inning which broke a 3-3 tie while the first game was a total team effort for the Jug Shop.

The Westlake Lounge knocked off Rico's Rockets, 12-5, behind the hitting of Bill Freeman, Bob House, and Ken Lewis. The Lounge also looked sharp defensively.

The Daly City Playboys jumped into the winners column with an impressive 11-3 win over Rico's Rockets. Leading the Playboys attack were Bob Rankin with two hits, including a homerun, and Paul Phalen who went three for four at the plate.

Colma League

The Odd Fellows appear to be the team to beat in the Colma Division of the Adult Softball League as last week they collected three impressive wins to take undisputed possession of first place.

In their first contest the Odd Fellows defeated the Servomation Vendors, 20-8, behind the four for four hitting of Paul Manning. In their second game they used 15 hits to take a 10-6 decision from Mac's Men. Manning and Bob Jenkins collected three hits apiece for the Odd Fellows in this second contest. The Odd Fellows made it three in a row with an 11-8 win over Thompson Aircraft Tire. Louis Martin paced the winners in this game with four hits in four trips while Ray Link, Jerry Sturm and Bob Jenkins gave a strong assist with three hits apiece.

S.S.F. Warriors Continue Their Winning Streak

By GARRY NIVER
Post Sports Writer

The North Peninsula League is slowly developing into one of Northern California's more noted prep football leagues and two paramount reasons for this rise in respectability are South San Francisco and Westmoor High Schools.

And things figure to be no different this year as South SF and Westmoor, along with Terra Nova, all expect to field strong grid elevens.

The Warriors are again tabbed by the rival coaches to finish first. Unbeaten in 19 games over the past three years, coach Ray DeJong's major problem this season is to find replacements for All-American halfback Greg Jones and quarterback Johnny Moro.

DeJong has two lads who he thinks are suitable replacements for Jones—Russ Cottrell, a 9.9 sprinter who was fullback on the frosh-soph last year, and Vince Nash, a halfback up from the frosh-soph.

The quarterback chores are being shared by Vince Olson and Larry Alsterlind, both of whom "can throw the ball," says DeJong.

"We will be representative this year," said DeJong. "We won't be quite as explosive offensively (They averaged 31 points per ball game last season), but we should be tougher defensively."

Heading the list of defensive standouts is All-NPL defensive end Mike Lloyd. He will be aided by tackles Don Willis (230 pounds) and Marty McDonough (237 pounds).

"We believe in what is successful and we have been very successful with the running game so that's what we will again feature this year," DeJong said.

Westmoor's season should be very interesting, according to head coach Pete Matisi. The Rams are wealthy in the backfield, but a host of untested undergraduates leaves the defense somewhat of a question mark.

"We have some very good ball players and could develop into a fairly good club later on," said Matisi.

Leading the list of veterans are quarterback Grady Proctor and halfback Dave Dotur, the latter an all-league selection in 1965. Matisi reports that he has 11 seniors and 25 juniors. The Rams' passing attack, which is always superb, is expected to be bolstered by the return of end Rich Bodmer and the addition of receivers Al Marefos and John Siranni.

The young defense is anchored by Mark DeBernardi, a 1965 All-NPL defensive back.

Introducing two of the most radical changes in Volkswagen history. Can you spot them?

Did you notice that the headlights are vertical now instead of leaning back a bit? That doesn't make the car look any better. But it makes the road look better by making the lights a little brighter.

And that little hump in the back? We did that to hold the license plate up straight so the police can read it better. (Sorry.)

What you won't notice without driving the new model are the big improvements.

The engine has been enlarged to a ferocious 53 horsepower. That only adds 3 m.p.h. to the top speed. Because we put most of the additional power where it would make the engine accelerate faster, turn slower and last even longer.

Now that the VW is getting to be such a hot car, we put in a couple of things to slow it down. Dual brakes.

The front wheel brakes are completely independent of the rear wheel brakes. So if you ever lost the front wheel brakes, you could still stop the back of the car. (Which automatically stops the front of the car too.)

The new VW also has seat belts, backup lights and recessed door handles as standard equipment. In fact, this year we made so many changes on the VW that we thought we'd better make one more.

We wrote "Volkswagen" on the back of the car to be sure everybody would know what it was.

Few Pacificians who patronize the Vallemar Market realize how circuitous a route its friendly young proprietor, Ron Root, took to feed them.

Root, one of the finest prep baseball players ever to come out of San Francisco, was a professional baseball player before he was anything else, and that career encountered more forks in the road than a butter-fingered silverware salesman. It was waylayed by the army, collge, and the grocery business.

Although he doesn't say that he regrets quiting the game, he has that certain attitude of the proud athlete who never really got the chance to prove to himself whether or not he could have made it.

Ron played three years (19947-49) of varsity for the then fabled San Francisco baseball school, Mission High, a period in which the Bears were starting a record string of five consecutive city titles.

AN All-City outfielder and pitcher, Root was on the legendary squad in which EVERY man on the varsity — the whole roster, including subs — signed professional baseball contracts.

Among the players were eventual major leaguers Gus Triandos (a 13-year man with the Yanks, Orioles and Phillies); and the Baxes brothers, Mike and Jim (Mike with the Athletics, Jim with the Dodgers).

In the high minors were Lloyd Dickey and Reno Cheso, who had fine careers in the Pacific Coast League with the Seals (Dickey also had good years with San Diego and was kept off the Cleveland pitching staff only because of guys named Bob Feller, Mike Garcia, Jim Lemon, Early Wynn, etc.)

Others who had extensive minor league careers in the higher minors were Joe Polich, Lefty Collins, and Ray Cuccerini, whose promising career was cut short by a fatal auto accident. There are others whose listing would extend beyond the column's space capacity.

Root, who had a major league arm when he was 14, was signed out of high school by Boston Red Sox Scout Charley Walgren, and even thhough Ron had turned to part-time pitching in his senior year and compiled a 7-1 record, Walgren was more interested in his three consecutive years of high .300 batting averages, and so he was signed as an outfielder. Ron, at 17, was the youngest player in the Red Sox organization.

Three years of minor league ball with San Jose (California League), Boise (Pioneer League), Marien (Ohio-Indiana Oneonta (Canadian-American), and Kinston (North Carolina-Coastal Plain), culminated with a tour of army duty after the '52 season. Root had played with several men who went on to star with the Red Sox, among them Tommy Umphlett —who later played on the last Seal pennant winning team in '57 — and first baseman Dick Gernert.

When Ron was separated from the service he felt he was too "old" to return to the game, and so spent 1956-60 in college, graduating with a degree in psychology from San Francisco State. It was then, as he was contemplating a possible career in teaching, that his father, a San Francisco grocer, purchased the current Vallemar Market. He needed help, Ron lent a hand, and never did go on to his teaching credential.

LOOKING back on it, Root, now the father of two little girls, still chuckles at what stands out in his mind as probably the most memorable, important — and unlikely — aspect of his baseball career.

It happened before he entered high school, before he had ever even played on an organized team.

"I used to hang around Potrero Hill Playground, playing ball all day. I was especially proud of my arm and loved to throw. One day this old gardener comes up to me and bets me I can't throw the ball 300 feet. I laughed at him, because I figured I could do it easy, and told him so.

"He told me he'd give me a dollar if I could do it, and the bet was on. He measured out 300 feet and I threw several in a row that measured in at about 330, and he just stared at me and gave me my buck. The buck was all I worried about at the time, and it didn't seem like much of a feat to me, because I was always throwing it around that far.

(Allow us to interrupt Root's story here with an editorial comment, so that the reader may understand why the gardener was so amazed. As far as we've been able to determine, the best recorded mark for a baseball throw is 411 feet, six inches, by a pre-war Santa Clara athlete named Ray Tran. Tran later, incidentally, played third base for San Diego.

Now, to get this in perspective, Tran was a matured college athlete when he made the record. At the time Root was throwing "around 330" he was still about a year and a half away from entering high school. Even today, Ron isn't a big man, and as he explains, at that age he hadn't really begun to grow yet — and still, he was less than a quarter of a football field away from a world's record!)

"He asked me where I was going to high school, and I told him probably Mission, because it was a good baseball school.

"As I found out later, Mickey —that was the gardener's name, Mickey Hanna, and he had umpired in the Coast League — rushed to a phone and called George Wolfman, who was then baseball coach at Mission (now at U.C.) He told Wolfman that a prospect would be out for Mission the next year and that George should watch for me.

"That was a big break, and you can't understand how big unless you know about Mission in those days. It wasn't unusual for 150-200 kids to go out for baseball, and the only way Wolfman could be fair was to hold a sort of elimination tournament made up of intra-squad games. Sometimes it would go on for weeks.

"AS YOU can imagine, a new, unknown kid would just have to get lucky— be spectacular for that period of time. Even a real good ball player whom Wolfman didn't happen to know at least by reputation could be eliminated if he just happened to look bad at that time. Bob Chesnes, who later pitched for the Seals and Pittsburgh, couldn't make the team. Ray Cheso (Reno's All-City younger brother who also signed with the pros)

"As I said, Wolfman had luckily been tipped on me, because who did I face in batting practice my first day out? Lloyd Dickey, already an established varsity player, a left hander (Root batted left handed), and one of the hardest throwers ever produced in San Francisco High School baseball.

"I had never batted against anybody like Dickey, and to top it off, he was kind of wild in those days. He must have thrown me 30 pitches that I didn't see, and I was so discouraged I was going to quit. But Wolfman was patient with me, told me to hang in there and come out every day. I finally made it."

Two Powerhouses Beef Up League

Westmoor, South San Francisco Are Promising

By JOHN HORGAN
Post Sports Writer

THE NORTH PENINSULA LEAGUE, dominated since its inception by Westmoor and South San Francisco, will be the same old story: South San Francisco ought to grab the crown easily. This is how the seven teams stack up:

1. South San Francisco — Undefeated over 19 straight games, the Warriors will feature tremendous size in the line and great speed in the backfield. The loss of Greg Jones and John Moro will be felt, but, surprisingly, this 1966 team may be capable of more things than last year's club. The rest of the circuit, except for Terra Nova, will be a bit "down" and the South S.F. bunch might well coast in easily. That win streak should be extended even further.

2. Terra Nova — The 1966 Tigers ought to be the best team in the brief history of that Pacifica school. Most members of this team are experienced. Bob Fisher deserves a winner and ought to have one this year. Mike Ward and Don Henkel are both returning all-league linemen.

3. Westmoor — The Rams of Pete Matisi, in a rebuilding year, must atone for 1965 with some wins this year. Westmoor had one of their worst seasons ever last year and ought to be literally chomping at the bit. Dave Dotur is their best back, but Matisi is banking on some great sophs to fill holes left by graduation.

4. El Camino — Also hard-hit by graduation, the Colts will bank on some unproven hands to equal their mark of last year when they ended in second place in the league behind SSF. Coach Bob Sexton is optimistic. They open with Aragon of the Mid-Peninsula League next week.

5. Jefferson — Individually, the Indians ought to be fairly respectable with lads like Chris Soto, Norm Garcia and Charlie Lockett heading the starting unit. But depth, long the bane of the Daly City school, could prove its downfall once again. Coach Joe McGrath, one of the better offensive coaches in the county will make things interesting. But wins might be sparse.

6. Oceana — Jess Jones just seems to get a rebuilding program begun at this small Pacifica school when he has to start all over again. When his players become seniors they are just beginning to display some modicum of football maturity and then he loses them. It's the same old tale for the Sharks: no experience and little depth.

7. Half Moon Bay — This is the first year the Cougars will play football in the NPL and their entry could prove disastrous. New coach Jerry Murphy, a local figure, has his work cut out for him in both his team's and his own maiden season in league play.

AFTER ALL THAT, and the prospect of 36 more weeks of this column, we aren't sure now that we want to stay untracked.

DeJong Delighted Over Dandy Debut

By GARRY NIVER
Post Sports Writer

Cool it Baby, right now. If you were entertaining any thoughts about South San Francisco High School being a pushover this year, you can forget them.

While the traditional cool fog spilled onto Clifford Field last Friday, the Warriors applied a quick offense and a tenacious defense to dazzle visiting San Lorenzo, 21-0.

Scoring in every stanza except the final one, the Warriors looked every bit as good as the team which went 9-0 in 1965.

"I was real pleased with the opening victory," said Warrior coach Ray DeJong, who has almost forgot what it is like to be the losing coach.

"We looked good both offensively and defensively," he added. He gave special praise to quarterback Vince Olson and to linebacker Steve (The Chief) Kosmides. The latter was all over the field, stifling any hopes which San Lorenzo might have entertained.

For the Warriors, it was their 17th straight win over a three year span and their 20th game without a defeat. This gave them the longest win streak in Northern California as Bellarmine, which had a 31-game skein going was throttled by Pittsburgh High last evening, 31-14.

South SF, supposedly weakened because of the loss of All-American halfback Greg Jones and quarterback John Moro, applied the offensive pressure from the outset.

Olson, son of heavyweight boxer Carl Bobo Olson, was making his first start as quarterback and performed admirably. The first drive he engineered traversed 49 yards, with little tailback Tom Olmo bursting off tackle, shaking from the grasp of a would- be tackler and scooting 11 yards for the score. Olson converted with 1:50 left to give the Warriors a 7-0 lead.

The second score covered 82 yards in 12 plays, highlighted by Russ Cottrell's 57 yard romp which put the ball deep in San Lorenzo territory. It was only fiting that Cottrell should perform the final heroics on the drive cutting into the end zone from 15 yards out with just 65 seconds remaining in the first half. Olson again converted to allow the hosts to trot off of the field at halftime with a 14-0 advantage.

The final tally was set up by safety John Dougherty. The 5-8 speedster gathered in a San Lorenzo punt on the latter's 40-yard stripe and, behind some timely blocking, picked his way through the visitor's defense to the six-yard line.

Tigers Take Crestmoor In Opener

By GARY WHITE

Watch out for Terra Nova! When they get their timing in tune, the coastal Tigers from Paicfica should give a lot of football teams trouble before the season ends.

With conditions ideal and enthusiams apparent, Terra Nova used its depth to defeat a scrapping flock of Falcons from Crestmoor, 19-2, Friday night at Burlingame Field in the high school season's opener for both squads.

Both coaches seemed pleased with their respective team's showing, even though opening game errors were present. Both squads were vastly improved over last year when they played to a scoreless tie.

This summer, Terra Nova started off on a sour note when Mike Kenny, a veteran starting fullback, broke his arm. Kenny will be out until the end of October, but Coach Bob Fisher is pleased with the fact that he is about three deep at every position.

Before the game, Fisher cited Vince Salvomini as the lad who had replaced Kenny, and the youngster proved his merit by grinding out 59 yards in 15 carries.

Depth and experience appear to be Crestmoor's problem, as over half of new coach Craig Brown's 26 men are underclassmen

After receiving the opening kickoff, Crestmoor picked up three consecuitve first downs, and it looked like the race was on. But, unbelievably, those three first downs ended up being 60 per cent of their first down total for the entire game.

Terra Nova's eager defense on occasion looked like part of the Crestmoor backfield.

Juris Dumpis, Crestmoor's fine junior fullback, carried 17 times for 69 yards and at times you would think they could never pull him down, as 40 of the yards were gained with tigers riding on him.

Coastal Tigers Beat Crestmoor

Terra Nova, with Jim Bonner, Clancy Smith, and Salvomini leading the way, rushed for 193 yards, and could have broken the game wide open if it hadn't been for what Fisher called "timing." A dozen five-yard penalties, most of which were for illegal motion, stopped the Tigers' scoring drives. Had they been in "tune," they might have reached the 40-point mark.

Utilizing its ground attack exclusively, Terra Nova edged to the Falcons' 8-yard line under the direction of Gary Topolinski with 58 seconds left in the first quarter Topolinski dropped back and fired a pass to one of the tallest and most talented Tigers of all, Co-Captain Mike Ward, who made an outstanding grab for the first score of the season.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

Samll cavities in the teeth can be filled more easily and with less discomfort than large ones.
If decay is neglected it leads to infection and abscess formation. An infected tooth is a hazard to good health and often must be removed.
A tooth that has been lost should be replaced by an artificial one. If it is not, the other teeth will shift. This shifting may lead to more decay and to diseases of the gums.
Irregular placement of the teeth should be corrected for many reasons: To improve appearance, speech, and the ability to chew food and to help prevent other dental diseases.
Have your dentist check for cavities and follow his recommendations if treatment is needed.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for same, however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Preservation Of Downtown

The proposal of San Bruno merchants and civic leaders to upgrade their present business district in the center of the city by adapting it to use as a mall-type merchandising area will be followed with great interest. Similar developments in other cities are said to have been almost uniformly successful and, in varying degrees, have reversed dwindling sales.

A development of this type in Fresno has become nationally famous and is credited, not only with preserving property values in the downtown area, but also with playing a happy tune on the area's cash registers.

There is more to such forward-looking projection than just sales stimulus, however gratifying this may be to merchants.

It also demonstrates willingness on the part of a city to recognize the tides of change in the daily life, the habits, and the conomy of its residents. It accepts the obvious facts of change in mobility brought about when almost everyone has some sort of an automobile and is no longer limited to trading in their own bailiwick. It accepts the desire of people to have greater convenience, safety, and more pleasant surroundings as they conduct their everyday business. Most importantly, it recognizes that the economic fate of a city is closely bound to its ability to progress and meet the demands of a changing world.

It has been amply demonstrated that American cities can no longer depend on a glorious past or a simple current competence to insure their future. That future depends on what they are willing to make of it. It is good to see that San Brunans are aware of this and are striving to do something about it.

A Striking New, Sharp-Lined D.C. City Hall

By WILL THOMAS

Striking in its shape of grey exposed aggregate is the new City Hall in Daly City that is being pushed by the Guy F. Atkinson Company for completion by mid-February.

Located between Ninetieth and Ninety-second Streets and Edgeworth and Sullivan Avenues, the three-level structure of neo-classic architecture is seventy-four per cent complete.

The contractor is a good month ahead of schedule, despite rainy season delays early in the construction period. While the legal completion deadline is March 20, the project appears well along the way to meeting the February 20 date.

Daly City's mammoth Civic Center undertaking will ultimately cost nearly $2.5-million. So far a bit over $1.5-million has been spent. Originally, the contract called for a $2.2-million price tag, but revisions along the way to improve the facility have boosted the sum required, the city's superintendent of public works, Art Reschke, has pointed out.

The Civic Center will provide space under a common roof for Daly City's several spread-out departments and agencies, in addition to storage space that is at a premium in any governmental building. There will be approximately 40,000 square feet of finished space; that is, occupied. There will be another 10,000 square feet that can be economically completed and pushed into future use when required.

A good percentage—nearly half—of the new space will be occupied by police department sections, including a holding jail for men, women and juveniles. The entire police section was designed especially after extensive research by Police Chief Roland Petrocchi.

In addition to space on two floors, the police department—which is cramped in its present Wellington Street quarters, along with most of the city's other departments—will have its own pistol range, in a wing designed to provide a "buffer" between general municipal activities and those of the police force.

Architect Zaven Taterian, obviously proud of what he sees as the project grows higher, wider and more defined in its form, called the complex architecturally neo-classic.

He said it was designed with minimum maintenance effort and cost in mind. This accounts for the "exploded" natural finish of the exposed aggregate finish and the aluminum trim. Little paint will be required inside; none outside.

Throughout the building the forty-five degree angles reflected on concrete staircases and pillars offer a design of unusualness—a fresh, interesting architectural line that, though perhaps not a common eyesight appears nonetheless clearly refreshing in its abruptness.

Ready mix concrete trucks have been busy pouring the large steps in two front locaitons. These wide areas of access lead to entry patios and then to the first level floor that already is dotted with vari-shaped permanent planter boxes—without the plants, at this stage.

Dead center on that floor, beneath a huge staircase of concrete that will take citizens to second story business and service departments, will be an information booth.

The architect pointed out that the city made certain that personnel on any given level of the building had no more than one flight of stairs to travel. The arrangement of fil! around the building will make it possible for all but third floor entrance at ground level.

Additionally, there will be a separate entry ramp for the police department, which will be able to handle its prisoners and other activities without disturbing or being interrupted by other municipal goings-on.

A non-profit corporation was established to administer the complex and lease the center to the city for a 20 year period, at the end of which the property will be transferred to the city.

A group of Daly City officials and friends of the city touring the facility last week to keep abreast of construction progress, came away with a description in unison: "It's going to be beautiful."

'Neo-Classic' City Hall Rises at Daly City . . .

EARLY NEXT YEAR, this two-million-dollar-plus complex in Daly City will be ready for municipal workers to occupy. So far, $1,555,702 has been spent to get the facility 74 per cent complete. Although the contractor has until mid-March to finish the task, work is running at least a month ahead of schedule.

Opera Is Universal

Barbara Bladen

"Nothing can be as universally international as opera."

The opinion was expressed by Paul Hager, currently in his thirteenth consecutive season as stage producer with the San Francisco Opera.

"Take for instance, a French opera translated into German with an all-American cast who are performing in Italy. The point of view of the opera, from the libretto standpoint would be French. The audience is expected then to understand."

"Or take the 'Rake's Progress,' which is sung in English by an American and British cast, and trying to get them to all sound alike, at least co-ordinate their English pronunciation."

Hager has staged more than 50 productions and will be responsible for the staging of five operas this season, starting with the new production of "Elektra." This will be followed by the American premiere of "The Makropulos Case," and the new "Tannhaeuser" and repeats of his "Falstaff" and "Le Nozze Di Figaro."

The language barrier is no great problem for the Austrian producer: he speaks four languages and divides his career between designing in Italy, Germany and San Francisco.

OPERA PRODUCTIONS ARE ENORMOUSLY complicated to organize. Casts must be signed years in advance, since opera singers are in great demand and programs must be planned. Hager knows exactly what he'll be doing through 1969. He's already committed to between 10 and 12 a year, almost all new productions.

"There must be a reason why opera is such nervous work," he smiled knowingly. "One can never take things for granted in opera, there's too much at stake. My production plans for the American premiere November 19 of 'Makropulos Case' began two years ago."

The veteran designer bases his ideas for an opera production on psychological research rather than historical basis. He tries for the timelessness of the piece which often leads to a surrealistic rather than naturalistic approach. But the naturalistic school of design is almost gone now; audiences prefer to use their own imagination.

"It's not too likely that standard operas will ever be expressed in the modern idiom. Puccini's music doesn't express our time and it could never be translated into a modern Japanese setting," Hager contends.

He believes that "audiences would feel an instinctive annoyance in music not based on rhythm, color and harmony of our time."

AS MUCH AS MANAGERS may want to be courageous and present new and daring works, they eventually have to return to the standard repertoire by public demand. Hager lists "Joan of Arc," "Carmina Burana" and "Peter Grimes" as now being considered standard opera but it normally takes between 20 to 25 years to achieve that distinction.

While up-dating an opera may be often longed for, many countries still cling to the naturalistic tradition. Changing a Verdi opera in Italy where La Scala built a reputation for traditionalism or modernizing "Boris Godunov," in Russia wouldn't work because they wouldn't understand it. For any other country they could transform the opera into an interpretive design.

He cited the example of trying to modernize "Of Mice and Men," for production in America. It just wouldn't be accepted.

Watch Promises Of Song Sharks

Lorene Beasley

"You can write a song hit."

The alluring advertisements of self-styled publishers, studios or music companies promise to compose free music for poems on any subject and guarantee the publication of your song.

More than 20,000 musical compositions are copyrighted annually. In spite of the rosy promises of song sharks, hit songs achieved by amateurs are rare. In fact, an amateur song writer has little change to have a song hit the top tune market.

Any musician of experience can set a poem or a jingle to music. One man employed to grind out music had 1,676 songs copyrighted in one year but he had no outstanding music numbers.

ANYONE who answers the advertisements of a song shark receives an answer by return mail praising the poem which had been submitted. A contract is also enclosed for the hopeful songwriter to sign.

The contract provides for a payment of $50 or more to be made. This payment may be paid in full or arrangements can be made for an installment plan. If the songwriter-to-be signs the contract and sends in the payment, the so-called publisher will go through the routine of fulfilling the client's terms called for in the contract.

The terms call for the printing of a number of the client's songs, securing a playright and calling the attention of music publishers, record manufacturers, dealers in music and professional singers to the song.

After — fulfilling this obligation, the publisher owes nothing more to his client. —He has spent from $20 to $25 on the client's poem, making a net profit of $25 or more. The songwriter has nothing to show for his investment but a few cheaply printed copies of his song.

BEFORE investing any money, the would-be songwriter should remember that no top music publishing company takes orders for publishing a song or charges the composer for publishing. Printing is not publishing. Publishing entails placing on sale, selling or publicly distributing. Professional copies are worthless to a legitimate music publisher and end in many wastepaper baskets.

Bonafide publishers copyright their publications at their own expense in their firm name. The publisher assumes the entire expense upon the acceptance of a song

For this reason, a company is interested only in a song it believes has a chance to become a success. The composer is paid for his work in cash or royalties.

The Book Shelf

Another Book On Jacqueline

Samuel Chandler

Here comes another book about Jackie Kennedy (Robert T. Harding's Jacqueline Kennedy. Vanguard, 1966). Without writing a line or posing for a picture, Mrs. Kennedy has become the biggest thing in journalism.

At least six books about her are in print. Hundreds of popular magazines run her picture month after month. "She has saved the movie fan magazine," writes Lloyd Shearer in Parade, "from its predicted demise and has instead stimulated growth of what are known in the publishing business as Jackie Kennedy factories."

One publisher reports that every month for 32 months he has turned half a million copies of "TV Photo Story," "Movie TV Secrets," "Inside Movie" and "Photoland" with Jackie as the number one sales gimmick.

Most of the stories are shallow and ridiculous, yet they are grabbed up by a public that has made "Jackie" the most celebrated woman of modern times.

One of the publishers, Jack Horner, told Mr. Shearer that Jackie is a true goddess, a perfect Aphrodite. "Say one word against her, and the magazine is deluged with complaints."

Jackie also sets the clothes styles, the hair styles, the voice styles. Plastic surgeons report that "most of the nose jobs today are Jackie Kennedy noses." Her office in New York still—33 months after her husband's death—receives 3,000 pieces of daily mail.

All this seems rather strange, for Mrs. Kennedy does not seek the publicity as movie star queens have done. She is an egg head—a true inellectual, speaks several foreign languages, digs classical music and poetry.

She is not to be seen in the splashiest night club; does not wear "daring do" clothing; nor speak jargon. She does not dance the latest teen-age craze or gush over matinee idols. She is over 30 and makes no bones about it; she has been called a woman who makes motherhood fashionable.

Why, then, is she object of so much interest? For an answer, Mr. Shearer quotes Mr. Horner of Dell Publishing Company. "Jackie Kennedy is unique. There is only one of her—and she is different. She looks different and more important she stays different."

"The trouble with so many actresses nowadays." Mr. Horner continues," is that they all look alike—they copy each other."

PERHAPS this is true. For sometime, public observers have been telling us that for all our beatniks and our angry young men, we live in an age of slavish imitation. It is an age they say, of the man in the gray flannel suit, of big corporations that mold their employes by dictated procedures upon which promotion and success depend.

It is an age when literature—says Thrall and Hubbard—tends to become standardized; when movies and TV programs are written according to a formula.

Sr. Citizen Performs . . .

PACIFICA'S RUNG HASSELGREN, ballad singer extraordinaire, won second place in the Senior Citizens talent division of the California State Fair competition last month. Hasselgren's repertory is built around dialect ballads and the comic numbers he learned as a vaudeville performer.

His Repertory Spans Half Century, Ocean

By DON GRIERSON

Pacficia's Rung Hasselgren, 62-year-old troubadour who took second place in the senior citizens talent division at the California State Fair last month, has a musical repertory which spans a half century and an ocean.

Born in Sweden, Hasselgren grew up in the Montana farm country, where he learned to play the guitar in order to accompany his father, a fiddler, at old time "breakdowns."

"I started playing at 12," Hasselgren recalls, "when my older sister went away to school and left my father without an accompanist."

"On Saturday nights, everybody in the county would gather at one farm house. We would throw the furniture out of a room and dance until sunrise."

Here Hasselgren learned dialect ballads and folk songs from his father.

In 1922, he moved to the West Coast and "got in on the last days of vaudeville." He performed in the late 20's and early 30's at such old-time vaudeville strongholds as the Castro Theatre in San Francisco, and developed the characteristic style of the genre.

The two numbers which won him recognition in the state competition, "Every Day Is Ladies Day With Me," and "Someone Put Glue on My Saddle," show the influence of his vaudeville experience.

Next to the novelty tunes and comic ballads of vaudeville, Hasselgren's favorites are the Swedish dialect numbers, several of which he has recorded for the Scandinavian Music Company in Berkeley.

Among the dialect songs he has recorded are several of his own compositions, notably "John Johnson's Wedding." Other favorites include "The Jolly Coppersmith," "The Vinegar Works," and "For Heaven's Sake, Marry the Girl."

Hasselgren is in constant demand as a performer for Pacifica's civic clubs, benefits and other functions, and sings tenor in the choir at the Presbyterian Church. When not singing, he works as superintendent of maintenance for the Laguna Salada School District.

Commenting on the music of the younger generation, he says many of the performers are quite talented, "but that music is not for me."

Sugar... 'n' Spice

By NELL NORTON

NOW that vacation is really over (all the summer washing and ironing finished) how about thinking about baking some goodies to celebrate? You good cooks know that I don't need much to get me interested in baking, just a new recipe or the rediscovery of an old favorite.

Under the heading of "old-favorite-rediscovered," would come this recipe for Raisin Stars. These cookies are delicious and pretty too, a nice combination I think you'll agree.

RAISING STARS

½ cup shortening
1 cup granulated sugar
2 eggs
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 teaspooon salt
2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder

Cream together shortening and sugar. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Blend in lemon juice and rind. Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. Blend into first mixture. Chill dough thoroughly.

While the dough is chilling make the filling.

RAISIN FILLING

One and three-fourths cup raising, golden or dark
Three-fourths cup water
½ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon cornstarch
Few grains salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon lemon rind

Rinse raisins. Add water and boil 5 minutes. Blend sugar, cornstarch, salt and stir into raisins. Add lemon juice and rind. Cook an stir until clear and thickened. Remove dough from refrigerator. Roll out on floured board to about one-eighth-inch thickness. Cut into circles with a three-inch cookie cutter. Place onlightly greased cookie sheet. Place filling on center of each cookie. Pinch edges together to form a star, pulling dough up over filling between points.

Bake in 350-degree oven 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned on points. Makes approximately 3½ dozen cookies.

UNDER THE heading of "something new" comes this very easy to make cookie. The mixing and fixing of this cookie would be a nice exercise for your youngster who's just learning cooking and eager to try her hand at baking.

Besides being so easy to make these cookies have the added attraction of using the type of ingredients that most of us have on our shelves. No rushing out to buy some fancy item.

Last but not least, these cookies are delicious. A very plain cookie that goes just right with a cup of tea or coffee in the late afternoon when your neighbor drops in for a chat.

BARBARA'S COOKIE STRIPS

½ cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
2 beaten eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup light cream
1 cup flour
Dash of salt
1 teaspoon baking powder

Cream shortening and sugar, add beaten eggs and vanilla, beat well. Add cream and then the flour which has been sifted with salt and baking powder.

Bake in greased 9x12-inch pan in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 minutes. Cut in strips and roll in confectioners sugar.

WE have a request from a reader for a unusual pie recipe. The lady knows the ingredients but wants more information as to quantity and method. The ingredients are: egg whites, sugar, nuts and Ritz-type crackers.

Can one of you good cooks supply this recipe from your files? It sounds so good I'd like to try it too.

Pacifica 'Pops' Series Will Start

The first of a series of free "pops" concerts will be presented September 25 at Sanchez Adobe in Linda Mar.

Performing at the September 25 concert will be Roland Terry and his band. Two other concerts will be held on the following two Sundays, October 2 and October 8.

Last year's band concerts were a huge success as were other musical events held during the year, including the Blind Hong Kong Choir and a Pacifica Youth Concert. A varied program of musical events is being planned this year by P.A.P.A. and will be announced at a later date.

Jean Donohue, president of P.A.P.A., has indicated that a membership drive will soon be conducted and the support of Pacificans interested in promoting cultural activities in Pacifica is needed. All Pacificans are invited to attend this series of open air band concerts.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

By Donald C. Waite

IMAGINATION AND COURAGE ARE NEEDED IN DECORATING

When someone asks me, "What are the main rules in decorating a home?", I give them this answer:

The simple ingredients are imagination, courage . . . and, good taste.

In decorating your home, remember, you are expressing your own personality. And, you should certainly consider your own basic likes and dislikes. You can do a beautiful job in many different ways and styles.

One noticeable trend today is to mix periods, woods and finishes, so it is not difficult to assemble the things you like.

I always say that money will never take the place of good taste, and all of us have seen homes furnished on a shoestring that could win a prize in decorating shows.

So regardless of your budget, you can furnish your home attractively with the exact pieces you need and like.

And, don't be afraid to express your imagination!

When you do need assistance in selecting any pieces of furniture, we can help you pick the things you want at the price you can afford

Our decorators, here at Sterling Furniture in Westlake Shopping Center, are at your service no matter what your decorating problem may be. We are open Wednesday and Friday evening 'til 9 p.m. for your shopping convenience.

Pacifica Foreign Film Series Starts Friday

"La Strada," an Italian film starring Giulietta Massina, Anthony Quinn and Richard Basehart, is the first of the foreign film series opening next Friday night in Pacifica at Oceana High School's multipurpose room at 7:30.

Tickets are still available for the series, which began last Friday evening with an introductory lecture on the series theme, "The Quest for Intimacy," by Dr. William H. Miller of College of San Mateo.

The tickets are on sale at the Recreation Department at Pacifica City Hall and are $3 for the entire series. Tickets for individual films will be on sale for $1.50 at the Oceana multipurpose room ten minutes before the 7:30 starting time of each movie.

"La Strade" (the road), directed by Frederico Fellini, has captured over 50 awards in at least nine countries and probably caused more discussion than any other movie up to the time it was produced in the early fifties. It won the New York Film Critics' award for best foreign film in 1956.

The scene of Fellini's spiritual fable is a circus and the theme, that everyone has a purpose in the universe is acted out by three symbolic characters: Soul (innocence, spirit, dreams), Body (physical, brutal strength, man-as-animal) and Mind (the artist-fool).

The film's circus background of neo-realist poverty is transformed by the poetry and romanticsm of the conception. and the mood and details of scene leave a lasting imprint on the mind of the observer.

Dr. Morton J. Keeton, professor of psychology at San Francisco State College, will set forth basic concepts regarding "The Quest" prior to the film and afterward will comment and lead discussion designed to establish understanding of the film in terms of these concepts.

On September 30, "Hiroshima Mon Amour," directed by Alain Resnais, will be shown. "Hiroshima" stars Manuelle Riva and Riji Okada.

Thuja Occidentalis Is Popular Plant

The American arborvitae, Thuja occidentalis, variety aurea, grows against a retaining wall on the west side of Mrs. William Roth's home at Filoli.

Thuja occidentalis, the American arborvitae, is native to North America. Its natural range covers an extensive area that stretches from Nova Scotia on the east, across southern Canada and the northern section of the United States to Minnesota. A second American species, known as the "Giant Arborvitae" (Thuja plicata) extends from Alaska down into California, and eastward to the Rocky Mountains. This latter species is commonly referred to as the "Western Arborvitae" and the wild trees are magnificent forest evergreens that are cut for timber in the Pacific Northwest.

The American arborvitae, from which the Filoli is derived, is the mother tree from which some 50 or more distinct types of arborvitae have been developed. These vary in size from the little dwarfs such as "Little Gem," a rock garden plant, to the tall pyramidal forms such as "Douglas Pyramidal Arborvitae." Leaf color varies as much as size and form in that it runs from deep green through the yellow greens to bright gold.

The Filoli arborvitae stand about seven feet high by 10 feet across the base of the plants. The color of the foliage, as the name implies, ranges from a very light green to deep gold. Each tree makes a broad-based pyramid. We can only guess at the age of these arborvitae, but we believe they must be approximately 30 to 40 years old. However, while they seem a little broader at the base they don't look any taller than they did when we first saw them about 15 years ago.

All of the American arborvitae make very attractive and worthwhile garden plants. The flat, lacy foliage is easily recognized as it is so different from every other evergreen. It has no resemblance to the foliage of the pines, spruces or firs, even though it is a member of the pine family. The twigs of these trees are densely covered with the tiny, scale-like leaves, and stand in flat, fan-like sprays or fronds. Each branch is so densely foliated that all one sees is the foliage.

The rate of growth and ultimate height of these arborvitae depend upon the location, soil and growing conditions. They seem to prefer a sunny location but we have seen them thriving in moderate shade. They like a moist, rich, well-drained soil and, while young, some protection from hot, drying winds.

When the thyja needs trimming, they should be thinned from the inside to preserve their natural outline. They do, however respond well to clipping and because of this they are widely used for hidges. One of the loveliest tall hedges consists of plants of "Thuja occidentalis fastigiata," a narrow, compact, columnar plant that is fast growing to 15 or 20 feet under good growing conditions. Planted close together this thuja makes an excellent low-maintenance hedge that will shut out an unwanted view and give a maximum amount of privacy. It's one fault is that the deep green foliage has a tendency to get brown at the tips during the wintertime.

The garden forms, which are the shrub and dwarf types, can be divided into groups by their well-defined shapes.

Popular Garden Plant . . .

THUJA OCCIDENALIS variety Aurea, an American Arborvitae, is grown at the home of Mrs. William Roth. The hundred or so varieties of this Arborvitae are among the most popular and useful of home garden plants.

Rose Society Hosts Meet

By IVA NEWMAN

The annual conference of the Northern California-Nevada-Hawaii District of the American Rose Society, will be held at the Hyatt House, Burlingame, September 23, 24, and 25 with the San Mateo County Rose Society serving as hosts.

Attendance at the conference is not limited to members of the local Rose Society or the American Rose Society. Interested readers of The Times, may attend by paying the regular conference fees, and registration. A registration booth will be set up in the Hyatt House Friday evening September 23, from 7:30 to 10 p.m., and an informal get-together, with refreshments, will be held for the early arrivals.

Saturday morning, September 24, the registration booth will be open at 7:30 a.m. Also, on Saturday morning, entries for the District Rose Show will be accepted for placement between 7:30 and 8:45 a.m. Exhibitors at the District Rose Show must be members of the American Rose Society and be able to show a current membership card.

The show, this year, will have four competitive classes in place of the usual three. The fourth class is for the Alfred Leloy Junior Memorial Award, which calls for an entry of three red specimen Hybrid Tea Roses, either all one variety or three different varieties, correctly named and displayed in separate containers.

The other two specimen bloom classes are: the American Rose Society J. Horace McFarland Memorial Northern California-Nevada-Hawaii District Trophy, which calls for six specimen Hybrid Tea Roses, each of a different variety, correctly named and displayed in separate containers; the Clyde H. Stocking Memorial Award for an entry of three specimen Hybrid Tea, Pink Blend Roses, either all one variety, or three different varieties, correctly named and displayed in separate containers. The San Mateo County Rose Society will furnish all the containers in the specimen bloom classes.

In the artistic division, members of the American Rose Society in the Northern California-Nevada-Hawaii District will compete for the Martin J. Martin American Rose Society District Rose Arrangement Trophy. Theme for this class is "Togetherness." This calls for a dual arrangment depicting the pleasure Rosarians have at a conference. Roses must predominate but there are no restrictions. Space must be reserved for entries in the arrangement division. Entries must be mailed to Iva Newman, Conference Show Chairman, 2890 Summit Drive, Hillsborough, by September 20.

The conference officially opens at 9 a.m. Saturday morning, with a welcome by Charles H. Seymour, president of the San Mateo County Rose Society, Inc., and Albert Stein, Stockton, Northern California-Nevada-Hawaii District director. This will be followed by an address by T. Louis Chess, president of board of supervisors of San Mateo County.

Speakers on Rose Problems

At 9:30 a.m., Dr. William Allen, department of enomology, University of California, will speak on "Insects." His talk will not be limited to the pests that bother roses, but will cover other garden pests. An intermission will follow this talk, which will be highlighted by the opening of the Rose Show to the conference visitors.

At 11 a.m., Dr. Arthur McCain, department of plant pathology, Univeristy of California, will talk on "Diseases of Roses." Luncheon will be served at 12:15, (tickets are available when registering). William Zappettini Jr., president of California Florists Association, and the William Zappettini Company, will speak at 1:30 p.m. on "The Amateur Helps the Floral Industry." At 2:15 a other look at the Rose Show.

Dr. Raymond Hasek, chief of Tierra Buena Laboratory, Fremont, Calif., will speak on "Soils for Roses," at 2:30. He will be followed at 3:30 p.m. by R. H. Sciaroni, San Mateo County Farm Advisor, University of California, on "New Chemicals and How to Use Them."

The banquet at 7:30 p.m. will have J. Awdry Armstrong, president of Armstrong Nurseries, Ontario and California's most outstanding rosarian as speaker.

'Dean' of Rose Hybridists Dies

Eugene S. Boerner, 73, honored many times as the dean of American rose hybridists, died at Clifton Springs Sanitarium, Clifton Springs, N.Y., September 5. Boerner's home was on Seneca Lake, Penn Yan, N.Y.

Treasurer and director of plant research for the Jackson & Perkins Company of Newark, N.Y., Boerner developed more than 15 rose varieties but was especially well known for his pioneering work with the floribunda rose.

Two of Boerner's many awards were presented at Newark, N.Y., last June at the thirty-fifth annual Rose Festival in the Jackson and Perkins 17-acre display rose garden.

Dr. Charles E. Palm, dean of the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell University, presented him with a plaque recognizing his "significant cooperation in its research, teaching and extension programs." The citation stated: "You have no peer in the science of hybridizing roses, chrysanthemums, delphiniums and other perennnials. Your development of more than 150 rose varieties and your pioneering work with the floribund rose have not only helped to stengthen a growing florist industry but also contributed to a more beautiful America."

Pacifica Rejects Damage Claim

Pacifica city councilmen rejected $75,000 damage claims of a Cadiz Court resident arrested last month on charges of assaulting a police officer this week.

Sherman W. Hawkins, 26, and his wife Katherine entered the claims, charging Pacifica's police department with "assault and battery, trespass, negligence, malfeasance, misfeasance, inconvenience, annoyance, damage to reputation, slander and invasion of privacy," among other things.

The claims were filed in connection with an incident which occured August 25 when officers attempted to arrest Hawkins, who holds a "second degree Black Belt in karate," after receiving a report of a domestic disturbance at his home.

Police reports state Hawkins refused to be arrested and threatened to kill officers Douglas Freutel and Harry McCune with his "registered" hands.

The officers stated Hawkins advanced upon them "in a menacing manner," and they struck him with the butt of a shotgun in self defense.

According to the police report, Hawkins was "in a frenzy," and they gave up efforts to arrest him until the next day. A warrant was issued by the district attorney's office, and he came in and surrendered himself to authorities.

Hawkins is currently free on bond.

The Elusive Monkey Still Loose

Herman, the elusive Rhesus monkey that escaped from San Francisco General Hospital last week, is till at large and apparently roaming the asphalt jungles of the Bay Area.

The monkey captured in a garage at 314 Frankfort Street Tuesday by Daly City Policeman Robert Sola, with the aid of the SPCA, was identified as a Capuchin (New World monkey) owned by J. Allen, of 689 Templeton Street—less than a block from where the animal was cornered.

The Capuchin monkey, while similar to the Rhesus monkey, is the type used by street organ grinders, according to an SPCA spokesman at the Coyote Point animal shelter.

Owner Allen aid some boys apparently broke the lock on "Koko's" cage and the 18-pound monkey ran off.

If both monkeys weigh exactly 18 pounds, are the same color, and, for the most part, have the same disposition, how culd Koko be identified?

"Nothing to it," according to Pat McDonald of the Humane Society, "All you do is look at its tail."

Miss McDonald explained the Rhesus monkey cannot use its tail like the Capuchin.

Adult School Classes Are Begun in Jeff District

Jefferson Union High School adult classes opened at both Terra Nova and Oceana in Pacifica last week.

Many courses are being offered in both schools. Preparation for citizenship and basic English review coupled with offerings in office business machines, shorthand and transcription and typing review are attracting many students.

Popular courses in clothing and dressmaking techniques, as well as courses in the auto and wood shops, are increasing.

For community residents who have often thought of pursuing and educational interest, there is still time to register in the adult program, a school spokesman said.

Logan Quits Committee At Pacifica

Ray Logan, chairman of a committee appointed by the Pacifica City Council to study the desirability of combining the police and fire departments, resigned Wednesday night and urged councilmen to appoint a police and fire commission "to take care of matters of this nature."

Logan said such action is "the only way the city will ever settle the problem," and stated a minority of the city's residents are recommending the integration of the two departments.

His resignation from the committee was "accepted with reluctance" by the council.

In other business: the council adopted a zoning ordinance amendment allowing the operation of car washes in C-1 and C-2 districts; denied three damage claims against the city, referring them to insurance companies, and approved acceptance of the Sharp Park Ocean Outfall Repair Project on the recommendation of the city engineer.

Councilmen also approved the selection of a Fassler Avenue fire station site and the acceptance of "Fairmont unit 4-A, the area between Gateway Drive and Firecrest," subject to the posting of a maintenance bond.

The council authorized the city manager to dispatch a letter to the California congressional delegation requesting a feasibility report on plans for a small boat harbor at Pacifica.

This report was requested about two years ago, but no word has been received from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

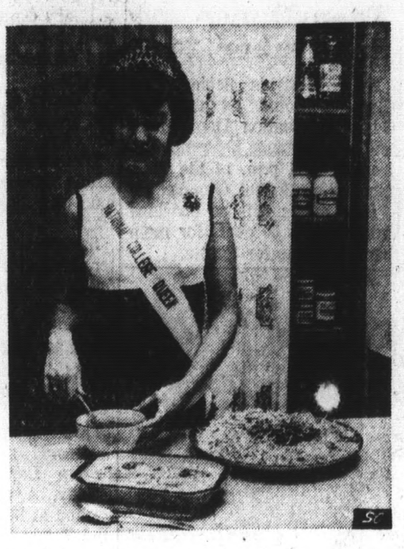
National College Queen a Cook



National College Queen, Vicki Rae Lieberstein, is a student at UCLA with little time to spend in the kitchen, yet during the Best Foods Home Economics Event of the National College Queen Pageant she proved she can cook. An example of her good cooking is the recipe for Cheese Fondue Sandwich given here. Vicki, who represented California in the Pageant, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marlin B. Lieberstein, 5501 Wilbur Avenue, Tarzana, California.

Cheese Fondue Sandwich

- 8 slices enriched sandwich bread, crusts removed
- 1/2 stick Mazola margarine
- 1/4 pound sharp natural Cheddar cheese
- 3 eggs
- 1-1/3 cups milk
- 1/3 cup dry sherry or milk
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- Dash paprika
- Large pitted black olives
- Cherry tomatoes
- Parsley

Spread both sides of bread thinly with margarine. Place 4 slices in 8-inch square pyrex baking dish. Slice cheese and divide on 4 pieces of bread, covering with remaining slices. Combine eggs, milk, sherry, salt, pepper and paprika. Pour mixture over sandwiches. Let stand 30 minutes. Bake in 325 degrees F. (slow) oven 35 to 40 minutes or until puffy and brown. Garnish with olives, tomatoes and parsley. Makes 4 servings.

A Well-Seasoned Dish for Friends

Dinner at eight is much easier for couples with young children. When the tots are in bed and kissed good night, there is a secure feeling that the baby sitter will have little trouble and home will be quiet. Then it's easier for everyone to relax and enjoy the evening with friends.

If you are the hostess and have children to bed down too, plan to serve a well-seasoned dish that can be prepared earlier and bake unnoticed until time to serve. Such a one is made with cube steaks, seasoned appetizingly with brown prepared mustard.

The steaks bake slowly in the sauce until fork tender and flavor filled. This is a perfect dish for a buffet. With it, serve a big mixed vegetable salad, crisp hot rolls, and for dessert, chocolate cake and coffee.

BAKED MUSTARD STEAK

- 6 tablespoons flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 6 large cube steaks
- 8 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1½ cups sliced onions
- 1½ cups sliced mushrooms
- 1½ cups beef bouillon
- 1-3 cup Brown Prepared Mustard
- 3 tablespoons light cream

Preheat oven 350 degrees F. Mix flour and salt together. Pound 1/4 cup flour into cube steaks. Melt 4 tablespoons butter in skillet. Add cube steaks and brown well. Place steaks in a 8x11-inch baking dish. Melt 2 tablespoons butter. Add onions and cook until tender but not brown. Remove from skillet. Melt 2 more tablespoons butter. Saute mushrooms and remove from skillet. Spoon sauteed onions and mushrooms over browned staaks. Add remaining flour to butter in skillet. Stir in bouillon and prepared mustard. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in cream. Pour sauce over steak and vegetables. Cover. Bake for 1½ hours. Makes 6 servings.

For an interesting new flavor for spareribs try:

MUSTARD GLAZED SPARERIBS

- 3 pounds spareribs
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/4 cup minced onion
- 2 tablespoons minced celery
- 2 tablespoons minced green pepper
- 1 (1 pound) can pineapple chunks
- 1½ tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/4 cup Brown Prepared Mustard
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Preheat oven to 450 degrees F. Place ribs in shallow baking pan. Sprinkle with salt. Cover and bake for 45 minutes. Meanwhile, melt butter in skillet. Add onion, celery, green pepper and cook until tender. Drain pineapple and add enough water to the pineapple liquid to make 1 cup. Add liquid and cornstarch to vegetables. Mix well. Add mustard and sugar and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in lemon juice and pineapple. Remove ribs from oven. Take off cover. Pour off all fat. Reduce heat to 375 degrees F. Spoon mustard-pineapple mixture over ribs. Bake, uncovered, for 60 minutes longer, basting several times during baking. Makes 3-4 servings.

California WaldorfSalad

Well, the Waldorf Salad has been everywhere, but it has settled in California. Here's one dished up California-style that you'll love.

California Waldorf Salad

Blend 1-3 cup mayonnaise, 1-3 cup sour cream, 1/4 teaspoon ginger, 1/8 teaspoon salt, and dash of pepper. Toss dressing with 2 cups diced apple, 1/2 cup sliced celery, 1-3 cup raisins, 1/4 cup miniature marshmallows. Spoon into crisp lettuce cups. Four servings.

Double-Deck Pumpkin Pie Is a Breeze

Double Decker Pumpkin Pie—a refreshing new version of the traditional pumpkin pie enjoyed during the fall and winter months. The pie combines two favorites—ice cream and a spicy topping of pumpkin. It's a breeze to make, requires no baking, and best of all, it will keep in topnotch condition in the freezer for six to eight weeks.

Double Decker Pumpkin Pie

1 baked 9-inch pastry shell or cookie crust
1 pint vanilla ice cream
1¾ cups canned pumpkin
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup honey
1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
¼ cup toasted, blanched slivered almonds (optional)

1. Place in a saucepan, pumpkin, salt, spices, honey, and gelatin. Heat slowly, stirring until gelatin is dissolved (about 5 minutes). Cool until slightly thickened.

2. Whip cream until stiff. Combine cooled pumpkin and whipped cream.

3. Spread vanilla ice cream over cold, baked pastry shell. Top the ice cream with pumpkin pie mixture. Arrange toasted, slivered almonds over top.

4. Place pie, unwrapped, in freezer. When solidly frozen (about 2 hours) wrap and return to freezer. Remove from freezer about five minutes before cutting with a sharp knife to serve.

Then when your hungry tribe demands supper, you can serve them this delightful salad treat in the time it takes for a "short word from our sponsor."

SHRIMP SALAD SANDWICHES

Ingredients: 1 pound shrimp (cooked and cleaned and diced), ½ cup finely diced celery, ¼ cup mayonnaise-type salad dressing, 1 tablespoon hot catchup, 2 teaspoons minced scallion (white part only), salt, pepper, 8 to 12 thin slices buttered bread.

Method: Mix together the diced shrimp, selery, salad diced shrimp, selery, salad dressing, catchup, scallion, salt and pepper to taste. Heat and pour over cooked carrots, sweet potatoes, or squash squares. Bake at 425 degrees (hot) for 20 minutes, or until glazed. Makes 6 servings.

Cover slices of whole wheat bread with cinnamon honey butter. Sprinkle with sesame seeds. Toast. Cut in strips to serve.

Figs Offer Allure To Weight Watcher

Three ways to add allure to weight-watching during the fall months feature the use of low calorie canned figs, which can offer a new delight for your diet at breakfast, lunch, or dinner.

Fig Couplets

For breakfast: Refreshing, unusual, nutritious, low calorie, Fig Couplets may be prepared 2 or 3 days ahead.

- 3 8¼ oz. cans low calorie Kadota figs, drained
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 6 tablespoons instant non-fat dry milk
- 1 teaspoon lemon exrtact
- 4 egg yolks

Combine 1 1-3 cups ilquid drained from figs, salt, and milk. Stir to dissolve milk. Heat ot scalding. Remove saucepan from flame and add lemon extract to taste. Beat egg ujst enough to liquify (avoid forming a froth), and gradually whisk in scaled liquid. Pour into attractive baking cups that have been placed in baking pan and pour boiling water into pan to within 1 inch of top of cups.

Bake in preheated hot, 400 degree oven about 12 minutes, or until the custard does not feel excessively sticky when touched lightly. Insert nkife blade (silver is best) halfway between center and outside rim; when it comes out shiny rather than milky, custard will be done. Remove custard cups from hot watre immediately. Cool and refrigerate. They will keep at least 3 days. Serve with figs.

Makes 4 servings: 128 calories per serving using Diet Delight low calorie canned fruit. 285 calories per serving using regular canned fruit.

Figaroes

easy-to-do and delicous as an entree at lunch, on the buffet table, or for an evening party are Figaroes, delightful for your diet!

Place a slice of boiled ham on a slightly smaller piece of Switzerland Swiss cheese, from which the hard edges have been cut. Roll slices together tightly and spear a drained low calorie canned Kadota fig, an 8¼ oz. can contains 5 to 6 figs, to ham roll with a handsome pick. Arrange figaroes on an attractive serving plate. 191 calories eahc.

Cinnamon Figs with Pecan Bonbons

An unusual company or dinner party dessert is Cinnamon Figs with Pecan Bonbons.

- 1 16 oz. can low calorie Kadoat figs, drained
- 1 stick cinanmon, approximately 4 inches long
- 3 tablespoons cognac

Break cinnamon stick into small pieces and place in saucepan with juice drained from figs. (Reserve about 2 tablespoons juice for pecan bonbons.) Boil ujice uncovered until reduced to a third. Chill. Add cognac to taste and pour over figs. Marinate 2 hours or overnight, stirring occasionally. (Figs will keep about 5 days in refrigerator). Place figs in attractive serving dish, and pour juice over. Garnish with the cinnamon stick and serve with pecan bonbons.

Makes 4 servings: Figs: 36 calories each. Bonbons: 110 calories each.

Cocktail Hour Surprise For Shadows' Customers

CHALK UP ANOTHER WINNING "FIRST" for Dave Rasmussen, owner of the Shadows in San Mateo. Starting this week, the Shadows will be serving hot hors d'oeuvres during the cocktail hours (4:30 to 6:30) every Monday through Friday. They won't be the "run-of-the-mill" hors d'oeuvres that you so often find. Executive Chef Bill Mills has especially prepared trays of tasty morsels to munch on—such as chicken livers, Teriyaki steak, meatballs, shrimp, sausage, etc., which will be placed on each table. In the center of each silver tray will be placed your own individual Hibachi. From there on in, you're on your own . . . Hotel Canterbury's Prime Rib Room broke all records last week. The terrific complete dinner and cart service makes a hit with diner outers.

Dave Rasmussen

THEY OWN THE BLACK HORSE—Robert Roselli and Robert Batinovich are the two smiling gents who will "ride" the Black Horse cocktail lounge to a successful grand opening next Thursday evening, September 22.

PLATINUM BLOND LAVERNE CUMMINGS stops the show every night at Finocchio's in San Francisco's North Beach sector with one of the greatest torch songs of all time, "Cuando Calienta el Sol." Laverne's singing is something to hear, but it isn't his voice, alone, that wins the audience. Clad in sheath-fitting, sequinned gown, dripping in sable, with long blonde tresses, this talented performer moves gracefully about the stage looking like the most glamorous of movie stars. Cummings appears in each of the four shows presented nightly at Finocchio's, with a complete change of program each time. The revue of female impersonators is really something to tell the folks back home about . . . Lew Lehr at his Marina steak house describes an alcoholic as one who wouldn't dream of eating on an empty stomach . . . Ray K. Goman is back in the click revues at Gomans' Gay 90's with his wit after a hunting trip vacation.

TONI ELLING, now at the Cameo Club, Palo Alto, is called the "Devilish Darlin' " and is an exotic with a new dimension —a magnetic appeal through expressive eyes. Toni is a close acquaintance of Billy Eckstine and Sammy Davis Jr., and once worked as personal secretary to the great Duke Ellington, from whom she took her stage name. . . . The Gary Long Trio, bit winners in the South San Francisco Holiday Inn's Lancer Lounge, are delighting audiences with their new renditions during the dinner-dancing each Friday and Saturday night in the main dining room, which has been completely enlarged to double its occupanncy. Wait until you see the new uniforms worn by the waitresses. Wow! . . . No lack of parking space when selecting Doran's in Belmont for that special banquet. Prime rib, steaks and lobster are menu treats here.

Toni Elling

THE WARM HOSPITALITY of the friendly Alfinito brothers, Art, George and Harry, and an unusual choice of dining have made Rudolfo's, the beautiful French-Italian restaurant in Palo Alto, one of the most popular on "Restaurant Row." Sizzling steak dinners, prepared from charcoal heat, not gas, are the latest favorites —and at prices so modest that families are flocking in. If you prefer Italian gourmet fare, try the San Remo Room . . . A sandwich for lunch, is now the thing to have at Gold Street, which now features these delicious sandwiches of your choice, catered by Goldberg-Bowen. Gold Street in San Francisco is a meeting place for the "in" crowd during the happy hour from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. Generous drinks are served by a Golden Girl cocktail waitress for 60 cents. An entertainment adventure is also the nightly New Year's Eve party from 9 till 2 a.m.

HAPPINESS FOR ANY RESTAURANT OWNER is having an adequate dining room seating capacity for continuous large crowds. And happiness is ensuring everyone at Plateau 7, the sky-high gourmet restaurant in San Jose. Andre Gubbels is the very personable general manager of this dining mecca, where only the very best of meals are served daily. . . . Mace Franklin, that madcap at the piano currently holding forth at Martinelli's Steak Pit in Millbrae, Wednesday through Saturdays, is a man you shouldn't miss. He delivers sophisticated, sometimes risque versions, of many well-known tunes. . . . The September Playboy Magazine has high praise for the Galaxie—"One of the snazzier San Francisco showrooms where the swim originated features great waves of bare bosoms." . . . Most popular menu request on the "Business Men's" luncheon at Augie's are the hot turkey and beef sandwiches. Includes soup or salad.

The lively music of August Amador is causing big excitement at Dan Biagi and Rene Canabou's Cote D'Azur in Atherton. The popular pianist holds the extra-added attraction spot around the pianobar each evening.

The new Villa Hotel Coffee House serves breakfast at all hours. You can order a variety of dishes from the menu—all specially prepared by the chefs to order. Open 24 hours every day of the year, with plenty of free parking.

The Black Horse Due In Burlingame Tomorrow

Robert Roselli and Robert Batinovich, two new comers to the Peninsula, are bringing the Black Horse into Burlingame on Thursday, September 22—and they couldn't have selected a more opportune time, what with the opening of Bay Meadows Race Track on Wednesday. But don't let this throw you—the Black Horse won't be entered at Bay Meadows 'cause it's the name of a new, ultra-swank cocktail lounge, which will be open seven days a week from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. A buffet spread is on the agenda for the gala September 22 opening. Plan to be on hand for the big funfest.

Restaurant families will be well represented at the University of Santa Clara, this Fall. Leo Giorgetti of the Iron Horse, Tony Alioto of Alioto's in San Francisco ,and the Marty Bogdans of Bertolucci's in South San Francisco will all have a son enrolling at the university this month. Sounds like the birth of a fabulous restaurant.

"Luncheon at L'Auberge" is not only a pleasing phrase you hear these days, but holds promise for some of the best pre-luncheon cocktails served anywhere. The lounge has an intimate bistro atmosphere with soft lights and comfortable lounge chairs. Star of the production are the potent meticulously blended cocktails by fizzer Bob Wagner.

Still captivating audiences at North Lake Tahoe's Crystal Bay Club is that famous crooner, Frankie Fanelli. Known as a great warbler of terrific songs, who is on his way up, Frankie is talent personified and a great performer. Also starring at the Crystal Bay Club are the Novelites. Audiences claim they haven't clocked so many laffs in years. This threesome is one of the most imitated acts in show business with their comedy and musical magic.

Joerg Krumpholz and Kurt Melcher, keepers of Taddy's Inn, have re-ordered their new menus. Seems the ones designed by Mrs. Diane Hailer, a local artist with a paint brush flair, have caught the public's fancy. They have been mailing them out faster than "Cash on the line" Standard Oil "12 ways to win" tickets are being grabbed up.

Don't miss the Nancy Wilson show at the Sahara-Tahoe, South Shore. Along with the lovely Miss Wilson, you will enjoy the vocal excellence of one of the finest young groups in show business, the Doodletown Pipers 10 boys and 10 girls). the Sonia Shaw Dancers and Bill Hitchcock's Orchestra are also featured in a colorful and exciting new production number, "Ballet Cinderella."

BARBECUED MEAT SPECIALIST—That's the reputation of chef Red Williams, who has been head chef for Adrian Stickney's Santa Clara restaurant for 13 years and is now directing the barbecued meat courses and de luxe family dinners at Stickney's of San Mateo.

Gourmet Table Bargain Prices

"Eat All You Wish" is the wish of the Gourmet Table owners, who have turned back the clock many years with such prices as $1.10 for luncheon, dinner for just $1.65. On Monday and Tuesdays the menu even includes broiled New York steak. Prime Ribs of Beef on Wednesdays and Thursdays. This, of course, along with many other selections from the stainless steel steam table.

Wilbur Stump is never "stumped" for a job. This talented "88'er" travels about the country faster than a "cure for all ailments" salesman back in the covered wagon days. Last heard, he was performing at Bimbo's 365 Club in the Trophy Room.

The Fior d' Italia has neatly solved the problem of diners being embarrassed to ask for a bag for steak, etc., leftovers for themselves instead of their doggies. Instead of "Doggie Bag," they are now printed "People Bag."

The motif of Stickney's Stagecoach restaurant, cocktail lounge and coffee shop in San Mateo is exceptional. The walls are decorated with Adrian Stickney's private collection of authentic old west artifacts and paintings. A walk around the restaurant to observe these valuable art objects is an interesting experience.

Vince Licata Elephant Trainer?

Vince Licata, popular host-owner of Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant, the "Fisherman's Wharf of San Mateo," has been visiting the Nevada circuit so much, lately, that he's becoming quite a celebrity. On one occasion a Nugget visitor, after viewing the elephant act in the beautiful Circus Room, noticed Vince in the casino after the show and asked for his autograph. Vince is a "ringer" for the handsome elephant trainer.

Outstanding musical talent is the feature of the evening seven nights a week at Bill Gilbert's Tiger Club at the Airport's Hilton Inn, where the vocal and instrumental talents of some of the top men and women in the entertainment world perform to capacity crowds nightly. Also spotlighted are the shapely Tiger Kittens, who give out with the latest Go Go gyrations.

Sinaloa's Aidee And Raul Talent

A sparkling, exciting extravaganza unfolds nightly at Luz Garcia's authentic Mexican cantina, Sinaloa. Travelers to Mexico City agree the show can't be beat.

Luisa is the petite, vivacious vocalist; Clarita, the beauteous one, does a sultry Afro-dance with a male from the audience. Aidee and Raul belong on the Ed Sullivan show. His "Birth of the Blues" on the trumpet is superb. Wife, Aidee, excels on drums and repartee.

Next time you're in San Francisco for a shopping spree, pop into New Tivoli on Grant Avenue for lunch. The service is pleasant, the atmosphere is relaxed, and you'll enjoy a complete luncheon with soup, salad and entrees like roast beef au jus and baked Virginia ham, for just $1.50.

Rev. Warford Is New Bethel Church Pastor

The members of Bethel Church of Pacifica held a special business meeting September 12 and unanimously voted to accept the Rev. Lee Warford as their full-time pastor.

The Reverend Warford was born in Casper Wyoming. In 1959 he graduated from Bible Standard College in Pasadena. After graduation he became assistant pastor in the Open Bible Church in Montibello, Calif. until 1961.

Burly Patrolmen Recover From Attack By Woman

Two burly South San Francisco policemen are recovering from "wounds" received at the hands of a petite (4-foot, 72-pound) woman arrested on burglary charges last week.

Officers Bob Tann and Gary Paoli said the woman, who said her name was Margot Nemo, bit, slapped, kicked, clawed and spat on them.

She was finally hauled in a patrol car to headquarters, where she doled out similar "uncooperative treatment" to Matron Nadene Gallwitz.

Miss Gallwitz, a new employe of the department, succeeded in subduing the suspect and, with the aid of Paoli and Tann, put her in a padded cell.

She tore the lining from the cell.

"She cursed us, spat on us, and kicked us and did everything imaginable to indicate she did not want to cooperate," Police Sgt. Salvatore Rosano said.

Police arrested the woman at 4:30 p.m. shortly after she allegedly left the home of Mrs. Marcia Jane Moore on Hillside Boulevard.

Mrs. Moore told police she had returned home to find the drapes closed and the door locked from the inside.

Becoming suspicious she went to a neighbor's home for help.

As the two women were returning to Mrs. Moore's home, the suspect was seen leaving with several items belonging to the victim.

"She was also wearing my dress and shoes," Mrs. Moore reported.

Both women grabbed the suspect and "hung on" until police arrived.

Police said the woman apparently took a bath and ate lunch after entering the home.

The suspect carried no identification and police were still uncertain as to her real identity or address.

"We are certain of one thing —she has a lot of energy," Sergeant Rosano said.

Engine Taken From Pickup Bed

An automobile engine valued at $500 was stolen from the back of a pickup truck in Pacifica Monday, police said.

The engine, which belonged to John S. Doelger, 124 Northgate, Daly City, was taken from the bed of a truck parked outside the Doelger Construction Company yard, where the owner was working.

Doelger had removed the engine from a car for repairs. Officers said another pickup equipped with a hoist was probably utilized in the theft.

Children's Activities Scheduled

Activities for youngsters in kindergarten through sixth grade begin Septmeber 26 at the Brotherhood Way Jewish Community Center.

Play groups and special interest classes are offered for boys and girls, in addition to physical education activities.

Dance classes, boys' woodshop, painting, dramatics, music, football, and soccer are among the many choices offered.

That Lightning: Message From The Unknown?

Was that lightning flashing across northern San Mateo County skies Monday, or could it have been some interterestrial force landing?

Daly City police wonder.

Shortly after the storm subsided, a woman reported she was being attacked by "unknown beings."

"What weapon are they using against you?" the dispatcher asked.

"These 'unknown beings' are transmitting radio signals through me and disturbing me," the woman whispered.

The sympathetic dispatcher sent an officer to investigate.

"I searched the area," the officer told his superior, "but I couldn't find anything out of the ordinary—no "beings or radio signals."

'No Bounce' Bank Account Introduced

A checking account service, entitled the No-bounce Account, which permits First Western Bank customers to overdraw, either inadvertently or deliberately as a form of instant loan, was announced today by Frank J. Macchia, manager of the $800 million state-wide bank's Westlake Office in Daly City.

The customer who opens a No-bounce Account can write a check at any time, even though it may overdraw his account. Instead of the check bouncing, the overdraft is covered by the bank with an automatic loan, advanced in $100 lots up to the account limit (maximum $2,400). No interest is charged until the money is used.

After his No-bounce Account application is approved, the customer can, in effect, make his own loans without appearing in the bank, simply by writing a check.

"We urge everyone in California to come in, apply for our No-bounce Account, and establish his personal line of credit," the banker said. "It is handier and simpler than many credit cards, and it has the advantage of being completely confidential. The only one who knows when the account is in use is the customer and our computer. And our computers do everything but talk."

Rabbi White Will Speak September 27

"The Jewish Family: Is It Integrating or Disintegrating?" is the provocative title of a lecture by Rabbi Saul White, to be presented at Brotherhood Way Center September 27, at 8 p.m.

The spiritual leader of Congregation Beth Sholom will present an overview of the historical, traditional importance of the Jewish family, rleating this to modern-day pressures in America society.

Dr. George Karonsky, chairman for the evening, will lead a discussion from the audience following Rabbi White's presentation.

Mrs. Jack Mihalovici is chairman of the planning committee. Admission will be free for Center members, 50 cents for nonmembers. Coffee will be served following the program.

Weekend Burglaries

Two burglaries and an apparent attempted burglary occurred over the weekend in San Bruno, police reported.

A tool shed belonging to the Atkinson Company was broken into at a contruction site on Junipero Serra. An electric drill, saw, and three extension cords and 11 boxes of nails were taken. The equipment was valued at $125.

Burglars forced the door of a garage at the home of Bert M. Villiott, 1160 Santa Lucia Avenue, and looted the family's freezer of an undetermined quantity of frozen meat and chickens. A bicycle in the garage was also stripped of wheels, fenders, and pedals.

Someone attempted to pry open a door of the San Bruno Drug Company store at 601 San Mateo Avenue sometime Sunday night, officers said. The outside section of the door lock was broken off, but nothing was reported missing from the store. The safe was intact.

Gymnastics Program Is Continuing

The Daly City Recreation Department announced this week the gymnastics program for girls of all ages will continue this fall under the direction of Barbara Howser. This program will be offered at Westlake Park each day from 3:30 to 5 p.m. and on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

See the following schedule for your age group:

Girls 11 years and older, Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, 3:30 to 5 p.m.

Girls, 7-10 years of age, Tuesday and Thursday, 3:30 to 5 p.m.

Workshop Day, Saturday, 10 to 12 noon. Saturday 10 to 11 a.m. (other age groups may attend if they wish).

Instruction for adults in judging and coaching will be held on Saturdays.

The program of gymnastics will consist of the use of the gymnastics equipment, rhythmic gymnastics, Danish and Swedish gymnastics, as well as tumbling. A worthwhile and fun-filled program is sure to be planned for the coming year, so don't miss this opportunity to become involved in gymnastics free of charge. Many highlights await each girl.

Rezoning Bid Is Delayed

The South San Francisco City Council Monday delayed action on an amendment petition of Caesar-Callan Homes to rezone a 180-acre parcel of land.

The company asked the council to consider rezoning the land from a "U" district to a "P" district.

In other business, the council approved plans and called for bids on traffic signal installation at Spruce and Huntington Avenues.

An ordinance recreating and re-establishing a personnel system for the city was also passed.

Final acceptance of improvements in the Carlton Court and Forbes Boulevard widening project was held over for further discussion by the council at their next meeting.

Players Plan Show at Half Moon Bay

The Sprindrift Playhouse's October production of one-act comedies will include one by the Harbor Players of Half Moon Bay.

The program will be presented Friday and Saturday evenings, October 14 and 15, 21 and 22, and 28 and 29, at the Pacifica branch library, Palmetto and Hilton.

Casts of two of the comedies are now in rehearsal. The players include Mimi Haggerty, Estelle Novello and Donald Gentleman in "Suppressed Desires," directed by Stuart Brickley, and Barbara Carroll, Frank Van Klooster and Arthur Hubbard in "The Marriage Proposal," directed by Nathaniel Marks.

Asks U.N. Resolution

South San Francisco City Councilman Guido J. Rozzi asked Mayor Frank J. Bertucelli Monday to consider a resolution expressing appreciation to the United Nations General Assembly for their efforts on behalf of peace.

Councilman Rozzi informed the council that October 24 was United Nations' Day.

"The mayor has appointed me UN Day chairman, and as the initial act in preparation of our observance of that day, I would ask you to consider this resolution expressing our appreciation," Councilman Rozzi said.

12,000 Attend CSM Classes

Despite the fact that College of San Mateo's evening enrollment will reach a record high of approximately 12,000 for fall semester, a few vacancies still remain in some classes.

A sampling of available courses includes:

American institutions, English (various levels), conversational Spanish, management communications, calculus, economic geography, motor transportation, merchandising, brush-up shorthand and real estate.

Now your checks won't bounce.

Not that you go through life kiting checks. But a lot of nice, sensible people find their checking accounts a little short at times (we ought to know). Then they sweat it out 'til payday, hoping the check-clearing process is clunky and slow (it isn't). Or they sit there hoping Aunt Janet never cashed that birthday check for $20. Not any more.

It's the same thing as Instant Money. Now once you open a No-bounce Account, you can write a check that is an overdraft, and we cover it with an automatic loan. Instead of being in trouble, you're just slightly in hock. But respectably so. We advance you money in $100 lots, up to the amount of your own account limit (maximum $2,400), if and when you need it.

Don't show your face in a bank. Once your No-bounce Account is approved, you don't have to go near the bank to get some of First Western's money. You can be playing the Last of the Big Spenders in Acapulco—and write yourself a loan. Or you can be playing Conscientious Young Husband at the lumber yard—and write yourself a loan. Our computer will get the message. And no one else will know. If that isn't a discreet way of getting a loan, we don't know what is.

We are not a charity. Yes, you do have to pay us back and yes, we do charge interest. (First Western didn't get to be an 800-million dollar bank by behaving like a non-profit corporation!) The interest is 1½% per month on the average daily balance due. You get a statement every month telling just what you owe and what you must pay on your No-bounce Account—and also how much bounce is left in it. (If you borrow after our monthly billing date of the 15th and repay the full amount before the 12th of the next month, you pay no interest—a free ride of as much as 27 days.)

No wastrels, please. You can't be a spendthrift, drifter or professional loafer and get approved for a No-bounce Account. But you don't have to be a landed aristocrat, either. Just have good respectable credit. A steady job and a good record of paying bills are the main things.

The shrewd approach. The smart move is to apply for a No-bounce Account now and have it all set to go if, when, and as you need it. You may never use it (and it'll never cost you). You may use it on the next long week-end. Or the next time there's a spectacular sale. But just remember whenever you really could use more money: First Western does not give free samples. But we do everything we can to share the wealth.

SUN, MOON AND TIDE

WEDNESDAY

Sun Rises 06:56 Sun Sets 19:09
Moon Rises 14:51 Moon Sets — —

The sun, moon and tide tables show the hours of the day, numbered consecutively from 01:00 (1 a.m.) to 24:00 (midnight) instead of using 12 hours twice followed by a.m. or p.m. Noon is 12:00, 1 p.m. is 13:00. This is the practice followed by the Army, Navy and all government tide tables and almanacs

NOTE--In the above tabulation of the tides the daily tides are given in the order of the occurrence commencing with the early morning tide and the successive tides as they occur. On some days but three tides occur the fourth occurring the following morning.

Times and heights of tides at San Mateo Bridge, California. Furnished by Marine Exchange, Inc., from Coast and Geodetic Survey Data. Half Moon Bay tide 2 hours and 10 minutes earlier.

The columns at heights give the elevation of each tide above or below the level of Coast Survey Chart surroundings. The numbers are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign or dash (-) when the numbers are subtracted from the depths given by the chart (U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey).

Frank Greeley, former national sales representative or ladies' ready-to-wear manufacturers. Frank Greeley states: "Working as a sales representative with shrinking territory and rough competition, I joined the organization on a part-time basis to augment my income. I found I could make more money than I'd ever dreamed I could earn. But in addition to my rich rewards, what I sold brought greater rewards to my customers."

Mary Bonnett, working mother of five children. Mary Bonnett states: "As a housewife and mother of a large family, it was important to my children's welfare that we obtain extra income. I started on a part-time basis and in less than six months I made the decision to devote full time to the most wonderful money opportunity I have ever found."
